WORDS TO PONDER

Patiently Waiting

I waited and waited and waited some more; patiently, knowing God would come through for me. Then, at last, He bent down and listened to my cry

Psalm 40:11

Some of us may not be very good at waiting these days, yet the reality is that waiting is a necessary part of our new normal. We need to recognize that waiting can also apply to our emotional lives. Do we hold on to the blessed hope that we WILL be rescued from a troubled heart? David says he waited patiently, understanding that he might not be instantly rescued. But he trusted that God alone would save him. Do you feel that your emotions are on slippery ground or that your thoughts are stuck in the miry clay? Are you willing to wait patiently for the great rescuer to lift you up and place your feet on solid ground?

Take a moment today to ask God for His help, recognize the necessity of waiting, and TRUST HIM for the rescue!! Call someone today to check on them, and remember to pray for the lost, the sick and broken-hearted.
